PRESS RELEASE

Fusion Solutions, Inc. Named Partner and Sponsor of North Texas Global Telecommunications Society

Will also provide organizational, marketing and public relations support to NTGTS.

DALLAS, TX – September 26, 2008 – Fusion Solutions Inc., a leading provider of staffing solutions for telecom companies, announced today that it has become a key partner and sponsor of the North Texas Global Telecommunications Society (NTGTS) in an effort to assist NTGTS in growing its membership and services to the Dallas/Fort Worth Telecom industry.

In 1997, Jeremy Azif and Jennifer Ullman co-founded the North Texas Global Telecommunications Society (NTGTS) in the Dallas/Fort Worth area. Since that time, NTGTS has grown to be a dynamic professional membership-based organization dedicated to the promotion of dialogue and interaction on the social and business impacts of global communications and related technologies.

In 2004, Azif and Ullman co-founded Communications and Technology Connections (CTC) in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area as an extension of the North Texas Global Telecommunications Society (NTGTS). CTC is a dynamic professional membership-based organization dedicated to the promotion of dialogue and interaction on the social and business impacts of global communications and related technologies.

“We’re proud to be able to offer our support, personnel and resources to NTGTS and help the organization build its membership, visibility and connections here in Dallas/Fort Worth, Washington DC and across the Telecom industry,” said Tahir Hussain, president and CEO of Fusion Solutions. “The Telecom industry continues to strengthen and a key to its success is growing the pool of telecom engineering talent available. We feel our involvement in helping NTGTS build its membership will have a positive effect on strengthening the level of Telecom engineering talent in the area.”

“Having award-winning Telecom companies like Fusion Solutions joining our ranks will have a positive effect on our growth locally and nationally,” said Roberto Fanini of NTGTS. “They serve a number of the large global Telecom companies and have relationships with a wide range of people serving this industry. Fusion Solutions can help us build membership and attract new sponsors. We look forward to working with Tahir and his team.”
